Amsterdam Edition

K_nstvl_---

With this brochure the K_nstvl___* wants to give an overview of the richness of innovative art(ist-run) spaces, platforms and initiatives in Amsterdam. It lists currently active places that support, present and produce visual art. It is the first part of a series mapping the initiative.

Not one of these initiatives is the same, they all started with different ambitions and objectives and have diverse organizational structures. They also vary in form: from an exhibition space to a platform functioning as a strategic coalition for the arts, and from a workshop to a small publishing house or online magazine. Some change formation as quickly as a chameleon changes colour or relocate every now and then. Others have managed to find a more permanent location, or have been functioning successfully with one formula for already a long period.

Exactly this mix of ways of working and activities exploited is what makes this group of initiatives so interesting. The spaces and platforms create the possibility for artists and curators to develop new concepts, facilitate experiment and function as meeting places.

* K_nstvl___

Kunstvlaai is a platform for experimental art spaces. It produces events like a biennial festival, publications and public discussions in which it focuses on innovative methods of organisation, production and exhibition making. It wants to investigate the organisational structures that art spaces use, the contexts in which they are started, the strategies they employ to (re)present the artists or topics they show, but also the questions they have and challenges they are confronted with in current society.

PS While being printed, the information in this brochure is already obsolete. Go to www.kunstvlaai.nl for the most up to date version. If your initiative is not in this brochure, please contact us at info@kunstvlaai.nl.
